

Cyber Crisis Hotline

When a business suddenly finds itself on the receiving end of a data incident, ransomware holding IT systems hostage or another cyber security crisis, it is vital you have expert advice and opinion on hand to navigate the critical response path and regulatory landscape.

Pinsent Masons has a dedicated, multilingual call centre that allows you to connect to an expert immediately to help you through your cyber crisis and determine what next steps should be taken.

How can Pinsent Masons help your Cyber Crisis?

Through a real time, 24/7 call centre operation, Pinsent Masons can connect you on the phone to one of our experts, in your local country, to help lead you through your cyber crisis.

How quickly from the call can you help?

We've developed a swift onboarding process that will ensure the time between making the call and you receiving our response is minimal and you get the support you need when it counts.

Are these premium rate numbers?

No, each of these contact numbers are charged at a local rate.

Can I be more proactive with Pinsent Masons ahead of making a call?

Having expert legal advice available, with agreed terms of reference, confidentiality agreements and anticipated service level agreements can save you time when you're dealing with a crisis. Please reach out to us to discuss retained cyber services or read more about this here.

Why do I need legal representation? My IT team or insurance will handle this?

Being protected by legal privilege and having access to numerous breach experiences, we can protect your confidentiality and provide valuable insight on the best way to respond.
